Project Description

The Office of Human Resources at the NIH has key initiative documents to our organization that we would like to get to the 21st century. The value of these documents are important enough for us to deliver them to our audience in an accessible and attractive way. Our design components created in Drupal will help you achieve this project by piecing the content into design elements. Your assistance with this project will greatly value and help us improve search capabilities on our website and metrics to support website enhancements.
